NORTHWESTERN OFFICIALS MAKE NO STATEMENT ON CAR ACCIDENT IN WHICH 21 PERSONS WERE INJURED

Claim Agent Investigates Cases; Traction Company Holds Inquiry into Causes of Collision of Trolley with Railroad Train.

Officials of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, who held an investigation here at 9 o'clock yesterday morning of the accident of Saturday night when a Northwestern train crashed into a trolley car at the Academy street crossing, severely injuring two persons and causing minor hurts to 19, refuse to divulge any of their findings. Alva Hemmings, local agent for the company, stated this morning that F. B. Piersoll, chief claim agent for the railroad, arrived here Sunday. The investigation was held behind closed doors. Several witnesses were examined, including the engineer of the train, W. Wilkie. Mr. Piersoll returned to Chicago last night after giving out the statement that nothing would be made public until he had had time to study the information which he had received. Indications are that his findings will be made public within a few days.

On the other hand, the traction company will make an investigation this afternoon and promises to issue a statement immediately after. W. H. Dougherty, local attorney for the company, said this morning that S. R. Smith, claim agent for the traction company, was expected to arrive here from Rockford about noon, accompanied by W. C. Sparks, an assistant.

William Pells, 23, motorman of the wrecked street car, whose home is at Edgerton, is in the hospital at Edgerton, suffering from severe scalp wounds, injuries to his arms, body bruises, and shock.

Albert Nott, 45, paper box manufacturer, 509 North Pearl street, is in the hospital, suffering from similar and more painful wounds. The others were taken to their homes and attended to.

The accident, which occurred at 7:14 o'clock when a fast Madison bound train, running 25 minutes late, overran the street crossing and smashed head on into the car. The lighter trolley was hurled 40 feet across the tracks and landed on its side, facing in the opposite direction and crashed with great force into two telephone poles.

Amid screams, splintering wood, and flying glass, the 20 passengers were thrown in all directions, some through the windows, others to the floor. Great crowds gathered at once.

Statements Are Conflicting. How the wreck happened is not clear. Statements of the motorman and the engineer are conflicting.

"I never saw the train coming at all," said Motorman William Pells, 23, who interviewed his big brother, the trolley driver, at the hospital Saturday night. "The gates were up," he slowly continued as he writhed in pain, and "a native trolley driver" from the street crossing, who was in the car when it was hit, said that the train was coming when the passengers in the car yelled, "Oh, there's the train."

"I looked, and it was almost on top of us. It was running, I should judge, between 16 and 20 miles an hour."

"We were already across the first set of the railroad track, and I realized that we could not go back. So I drew on full speed in the hopes that I could get across before the big locomotive hit us. I almost did it, but the engine hit the back platform. The blow was awful. The trolley was turned completely around, facing the other way, and thrown 40 feet until we smashed into the telephone pole. The passengers were in a panic. I stuck to my post, until the crash threw me out of the car and I didn't know anything else until they took me into the waiting room at the station."

Engineer Is Reluctant. Engineer W. Wilkie, of the Northwestern train, a Chicago man, was the reluctant when seen by a Gazette reporter in the cab of the huge locomotive. He declined to say, but he joined in the conversation when Freeman Carl refused to state why he over-ran the crossing before bringing his train to a stop as he pulled into the station.

"I did not hit the trolley car," he insisted. "He was nervous—as he was continually inquiring whether 'than man had been killed.' 'The trolley hit the side of the engine.'"

VILLISTAS RELEASE HUGO; NO RANSOM; U. S. TAKES ACTION

American Embassy Directed to Make Representations to Mexican Government.

By Associated Press. Eagle Pass, Texas, Dec. 15.—Fred G. Hugo, 31 Paso, manager of the J. M. Doble ranch near Muzquiz, Mexico, has been released by the Villistas after being held here for $10,000 ransom, according to advices received here today. No ransom money was paid.

State Department in Statement. Washington, Dec. 15.—The American embassy at Mexico City was directed today by the state department to make representations to the Mexican government regarding the kidnapping of Hugo.

The statement by the state department said: "Two American citizens, Frederick Hugo, manager of the Hacienda Las Banderas, and a named Philip, understood to be also an employee of that hacienda, are reported to be held by Villistas for ransom."

Dispatches received by the department of state. Hugo is said to be held for ransom of 10,000 pesos. The department of state has taken steps with a view to action by the Mexican federal authorities for the release of the prisoners.

Increased efforts will now be made by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce in raising the $100,000 among business men needed to make the experiment of keeping the roads free of snow. George F. Wells, manager of the chamber, will impress upon the Board of Directors the importance of this matter when they convene in regular meeting this afternoon.

County Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore had his plans made to go out upon the roads with a "quad truck and a scraper" with a gang of men just as soon as funds are placed in his hands. He stated this morning that he is desirous of making the experiment to see what might be accomplished.

Opinions of the public, expressed through answers to this newspaper's query through its columns, continue favorable. Of those answers received in the mails of today all stated that they desire the roads kept open.

As a first step in the formation of a national guard company for Janesville to replace the local state guard company, a smoker will be held at the armory at 7:30 this evening. The company "M" through action during the recent war, has promised to attend. He has informed those in charge of the company that he is desirous of seeing the men. The captain now is in the hospital at Fort Sheridan, recuperating from wounds received in France. It is his desire that all members of "M" company be present.

Another speaker will be Sgt. Ernest Wood, formerly lieutenant in the company, and now in the regular army. A special invitation is extended to all members of the Richard Ellis Janesville post of the American Legion to be on hand.

Capt. C. W. Peagin, who has received a commission as captain in the company, will be in charge of the national guard, and authority to go ahead on plans for a company, stated today that the smoker is merely to get the service and state guard men together.

ONE VESSEL, LOST IN GALE, STILL MISSING. Halifax, N. S., Dec. 15.—The crew of the steamer Messina, abandoned in a sinking condition Saturday 430 miles off the Newfoundland coast, is safe on board the steamer Regina, bound for Boston according to dispatches received here.

The United States shipping board steamer, Davidson County, which was converted on a charge of being the one vessel not located early today among the score reported damaged or in peril last week as the result of the series of gales in the north Atlantic.

Pan Motor Official Seeks New Trial on Fraud Charge. Chicago, Dec. 15.—Arguments of counsel for a new trial for S. C. Pandolf, president of the Pan Motor company of St. Cloud, Minn., recently converted on a charge of fraud in the mail to defraud, were scheduled to be heard today by Federal Judge Landis. Twelve other officials of the company were acquitted of the charge at the trial. Pandolf declares he will appeal the case in the event a new trial is denied him.

Seven New Cardinals Are Nominated at Consistory. Rome, Dec. 15.—Seven new cardinals were nominated today during the consistory of which Pope Benedict delivered an allocution.

Previous advices had indicated that no American would be appointed cardinal today but that the probable recipients of the red hat were Monsignor Silv, vice chamberlain of the church; Monsignor Casati, patriarch of Constantinople; Monsignor Valfré Di Pouzo, nuncio at Vienna; Monsignor Kakowski, archbishop of Warsaw; Monsignor Bertram, archbishop of Breslau; Monsignor Dalbor, archbishop of Posen, and Monsignor Sorocella Y. Romero, archbishop of Saragossa.

Renner to See Clemenceau, Seeks Aid for Austria. Paris, Dec. 15.—Dr. Karl Renner, the Austrian chancellor, who is in Paris to seek aid for his nation, expected to see Premier Clemenceau today. The meeting of the supreme council scheduled for today was postponed.

COAL BANS FOR SHIPS RELAXED; PRODUCTION 80 PERCENT NORMAL

Lifting of Restrictions Effective Today; Industries Resume Regular Hours.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Restrictions against supplying fuel coal to foreign ships were relaxed today by the railroad administration to permit the departure of hundreds of foreign vessels which have been delayed in ports since the shortage of coal became acute.

Director General Hines ordered that vessels be supplied in the following order: (1) Inland and coastwise vessels; (2) American overseas vessels; (3) Foreign overseas vessels. Hereafter the only foreign ships which have been allowed to obtain coal were fast mail and passenger liners.

Coal production, which had been reduced to 80 percent of normal today, is expected to be 80 percent of normal today.

Restrictions on Coal Removed. Chicago, Dec. 15.—Restrictions on the use of coal by the railroad industry throughout the country approached a normal basis. Regional fuel directors continued to exercise supervision over distribution.

From nearly all of the coal fields reports came that fully 90 percent of the miners were at the pits today. The head of the United Mine Workers of America, predicted that 95 percent of the men would be at the mines by tonight. In a few instances locals voted to remain idle.

Operators said nothing like a normal output could be expected for several days, as it was necessary to clear away debris which had accumulated in a large number of mines during the 40 days of the strike.

Stores on Regular Hours. Stores which had been limited to a business day of only six hours for the past 40 days, resumed their normal hours today. The stores, which had been closed or allowed to run only three days a week, began operation on full time.

The restoration of hundreds of thousands of passenger trains which had been suspended for the past 40 days was begun. Regional directors said former schedules would be in force in a day or two.

Shipments of newly mined coal have been started from a few mines and were expected to be in the hands of distributors before the end of the week.

Electric signs which were the first to be affected when the conservation order was issued will be lighted tonight as usual.

Ohio Production Near Coal. Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 15.—Virtual normal production of bituminous coal in Ohio by Wednesday was expected by both operators and union officials.

It was predicted by John Moore, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers organization, that practically all of the 50,000 union miners of this state will have returned to the pits by tonight.

Indiana Miners Work. Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 15.—Operation of mines in Indiana on a practically normal basis this morning was predicted by operators and union officials of the state.

90 Percent Men Back. Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15.—Almost normal production of bituminous coal in Illinois by Wednesday was expected by both operators and union officials.

Full Forces at Work. Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 15.—Practically full forces were at work in Iowa coal mines early reports today indicated.

ROYAL CASTLE BURNS; CAUSE IS MYSTERY. Paris, Sunday, Dec. 14.—The cause of the fire which today damaged portions of the old royal castle at Compiègne remains a mystery. The fire broke out in the building was cut off before midnight Saturday, so that the theory that the blaze started by a short circuit has been abandoned.

German prisoners were mobilized and the historic furniture was removed from the emperor's bedroom and the council room. Mural paintings and some magnificent woodwork were destroyed, as also was a ceiling painted by Titian's Gironde, a famous French artist.

First Ward Aroused Over Railway Crossing Crash; Move for Safety Started

APPOINT COMMITTEE TO TAKE MATTER UP WITH STATE RAILWAY COMMISSION; ASK COUNCIL TO CO-OPERATE.

Immediate steps will be taken by citizens of the First ward, to start the necessary machinery for providing safe street crossings over railway tracks in the city.

Thirty property owners and taxpayers, indignant at a condition which would make possible the street accident which occurred Saturday night when 19 persons were injured and the lives of the entire 30 riding in a street car threatened, voiced their desires to get back of a move for guaranteeing safe passage over railway tracks, especially at Academy street.

A meeting was held at the office of the Fifield Lumber company, Sunday night and plans for getting quick action were discussed.

Those present offered many suggestions as to what might be done to eliminate a menace to the entire community and each agreed that further delay in the matter would be a change in conditions was criminal.

The order limiting ornamental street lighting in the downtown district to 6 p. m. will be temporarily lifted until the local fire board today. If the situation does not improve within the next 10 days the restrictions will be placed in effect again the day after Christmas.

PROHIBITION ACT IS CONSTITUTIONAL; BINDING ON STATES

HOPES OF MANY FOR "WET" HOLIDAY ARE PUT TO FLIGHT.

"YES" UNANIMOUS

Decision on Volstead Enforcement Law to Be Given out Later.

Washington, Dec. 15.—War-time prohibition was held constitutional today by the supreme court in a unanimous decision which dashed the hopes of many for a "wet" holiday.

A decision was given on the cases involving the constitutionality of the Volstead law, the prohibition enforcement act framed to carry out the intent of the prohibition amendment to the constitution.

Associate Justice Brandeis did hold that the prohibition amendment was binding on the states as well as the federal government.

The court entirely reversed the conclusion of the lower court that war-time prohibition was outside the war-time power of congress and pointed out that war-time control of food and railroads still were in effect.

The decision added one of the final milestones to the long fight to make the country "dry."

The court will give opinions again next Monday at which time the beer cases are expected to be decided, after which the court will recess until January 6.

Upon the court's decision on the prohibition enforcement law will depend whether the war-time prohibition has at hand any legal means for making the amendment effective. The constitutionality of war-time prohibition is a question of law, the court will keep the country dry until the amendment is carried into effect by law of its own.

N. Y. Deceives Admitted. Federal court decrees in New York dismissing proceedings brought by Dryfoos, Blum and company to compel internal revenue officers to permit the withdrawal from bond of whiskey for beverage purposes were affirmed by the court.

Justice Brandeis said there was no basis for the contention that President Wilson's statement in his message vetoing the prohibition enforcement act that the war had come to an end, was a proclamation announcing the termination of the war.

Justice Brandeis said the government did not appoint the regular Italian army, headed by General Cavaglia, former minister of war.

Mr. and Mrs. Ash Were Wed 50 Years Ago

WILLIAM H. ASH.

It was in 1869, just fifty years ago yesterday that Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ash were wed.

The golden anniversary was celebrated Sunday by inviting 50 of their friends to the home of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Ash, Milton avenue. A reception was held from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening. A purse of celebrates and spent 214 days in a prison camp at Andersonville, La. Mrs. Ash will be 70 years old tomorrow. She was born in Newton town, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Ash were married at Waukegan, Ill., living there for 11 years. For 30 years before coming to this city the couple lived in Kansas. The Ashs came to this city 5 years ago. Two of their three sons live in Janesville. They are Carl Ash and Harry Ash. The other son, William Ash, Jr., lives in Kansas. Mr. and Mrs. William Ash, Sr., have four grandchildren. They are Devota, Velma, Harry and Vincent.

Hale and hearty the old couple were the liveliest of the lively on their golden wedding day.

Miss Esther Aarud, food expert from the extension department of the university, gave demonstrations on warm lunches. The matter of warm lunches has been left to the vote of the people of the district. Miss Hannah Osgard is the teacher.

Visitors at the court house Saturday were Misses Helen Flint, Manover, Anne Moriarty, Milton Junction; Hannah Osgard, Oxfordville; Bertha Thorson, Spring Valley; Lela Petty, Spring Valley; Ella Vigdahl, Center; Myrtle Hanson, Whitewater; Estelle Tiernan, Newville.

At the school taught by Miss Anne Moriarty, Milton, $47 was realized on a box social. She turned $5 into the Junior Red Cross fund, making the school 100 per cent. The remainder of the money will be spent for school equipment.

Miss Cora Thorson began teaching today at district 5, Newark. Miss Beth Sullivan, the former teacher, was forced to give up the school because of illness and return to her home in Beloit.

Three more teachers have reported that their schools have gone 100 per cent in the Junior Red Cross. They are: Miss Estelle Tiernan, Joint 7, Fulton and Milton, $1.25; Miss Marie Landon, district 4, Janesville, $5; Miss Lela Petty, Beck school, $1.

The school board at Joint 2, Spring Valley and Avon, has purchased 65 new text books for the school. Miss Bertha Thorson, the teacher, purchased a duplicator, busy work, slide boards, a printing press, and playground equipment with the proceeds of the box social.

Those pupils who have taken out memberships in the Junior Red Cross in this school are Leonard and Lillian Hanson, Ella and Charles Foss.

A duplicator and organ will be purchased with the $24.25 which was raised at the box social given in district 5, Spring Valley.

Pupils who have subscribed to the Junior Red Cross in this district are Joseph and Peter Radtke and Anna Solen.

Sleepers
Do you ever wake up on a winter morning, then snuggle deeper under the bed-clothes and wish you might sleep as long as you want? Well, that is how some of the wild creatures feel. No one insists upon their getting up so they nestle deeper in their beds of dry leaves and grasses, shut their eyes again and fall into a sleep which, in many cases, lasts all winter. If, in your section of the country, these animals do not always take such long naps, you may know it is because, where the winters are warm, their habits are not quite the same as where winters are long and cold.

One champion sleeper is the Black Bear, found in lonely places where the land is rough and there are deep woods. After a summer of careless freedom and an autumn spent in growing round and fat, the Black Bear feels stupid and sleepy, and hunts up a shelter in a hollow where the drifting snow will cover him warmly, or in a hollow tree or a cave among the rocks. There he goes to sleep and sleeps so soundly he does not rouse himself until the warm fingers of Spring shake him into life again.

It is a far cry from a big Black Bear to a tiny Wood Mouse, yet the mouse likes to sleep too—or part of the winter at any rate. In the fall, he piles up a store of grain and seeds, then becomes a soft, fluffy ball, and goes to sleep in his snug hole. It is said that he wakes at times to feed on his supplies, but he won't leave his quarters as long as his food lasts.

The Chipmunk also goes into retreat for the winter and deep in his burrow, all snug and warm, he sleeps away the cold days and nights. Probably before tucking himself in, he devours the grain and nuts, so industriously laid by, and the hearty meal lasts him until he wakes up again in the spring.

Another sleeper, the handsome but fat-to-walk before he finally turns in for the winter. ("Jim Crow.") Boys and Girls' Newspaper Service. Copyright, 1919, by J. H. Miller.

Study Problems Solved

The Encyclopedia
By Isabel W. Clayton
Francis W. Parker School

You have some friends who are not always kind to you. They have a great deal of information which will help you in your studies? These friends are very obliging and will give you help if you ask for it. They are more numerous than the dictionary. You do not always find them in your home but they can always be found in the public library and in most schools. They are called encyclopedias. There are various families such as the Americana, New International, Britannica, and others. Do you know how to use them?

You are asked to find out about apples. Will you look in the dictionary or encyclopedia? The dictionary tells what they are, while the encyclopedia describes them by means of words and pictures, tells how they are cultivated, the names of the different kinds, their uses, their diseases, what insect pests affect them and when and with what to spray the trees to destroy the pests. Therefore, if you want to know more than the definition of a subject, use the encyclopedia.

The encyclopedia is arranged in alphabetical order like the dictionary but usually in more than one volume, depending on the amount of material it contains. The articles are longer and fewer than those in the dictionary. A general encyclopedia like the New International or Britannica contains articles on all subjects. Some treat of only a special subject such as art, natural science, or electricity. The articles are arranged under the subject noun, such as rubber, apples, and boats. At the end of the most important articles, are lists of books treating of the same subject.

On the back of each volume is printed the first part of the names of the first and last subjects treated in that volume. The same is done on each page. This helps you to find the volume and page which contain the subject you are looking for. If you wanted to find out about apples in the New International Encyclopedia, you would look in the volume beginning with A and ending with ARABIC and on the page beginning with Apple and ending with Apple. A Family Institution

WHAT is your conception of your drug store? Do you think of it as merely a dispensary for drugs to correct your illnesses?

It is more than that—much more.

The modern drug store is a necessity.

Whether you are sick or well you need it. From infancy to old age—men, women, boys, girls—all require the service—the convenience—call it what you will—that only the drug store can give.

Your drug store is a family institution. As such it deserves your support. And you yourself will reap the benefit in better merchandise and better service.

There are many things your druggist sells of which you may not know. Try this experiment: The next time you need a comb, a brush, camera supplies, rubber goods, candy, cigars or other items which you think your druggist may have—See him.

Thus you will help your community because you will be helping your druggist to be of service.

And you'll be helping yourself too.

English Premier Expected To Visit "Tiger" in Paris

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Dec. 15.—In commenting today upon the London conference participated in by Premier Lloyd George and Clemenceau and other allied statesmen, the Echo de Paris says it is probable that the British premier will visit Paris before the end of the year for another consultation on pending questions.

The Parisian declares it may be definitely stated that all the divergencies of opinion between France and Great Britain on peace questions were adjusted at the London conference and that an agreement was concluded concerning Constantinople, Syria and Asia Minor.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF COUNCIL TONIGHT

The council is expected to pass the ordinance calling for the organization of a city planning commission when it is brought up at the regular meeting at the city hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Presentation of a petition of first ward citizens asking for steps to safeguard the railroad crossings is expected to precipitate a discussion with a possibility of some action being taken.

It is also hoped to close a city contract with Mercy hospital authorities tonight. The petition to change the name of Yuba street to Irving place is also on the docket for tonight's business.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONDAY EVENING

The local Christian Science Church announces a free public lecture on Christian Science by Dr. John M. Tuttle, C. S. B. of Kansas City, Mo., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston, Mass., in the church edifice, corner of Pleasant and South High streets, Janesville, on Monday evening, December 15, 1919, at 8:15 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

KIDS ENJOY SKATING ON "FISH" POND

First ward "kids" have a good angel in E. T. Fish who has flooded the vacant lot on Pearl street between Hunt and Ravine streets for a skating pond.

All winter the "kids" have been speculating on that same field as a place for skating. The Fish pond is 65 by 132 feet. Kids in other wards are saying that they want a pond to skate on. One kid suggested the fire or street department flood the vacant lots in the city so that every ward would have a pond.

GERMANY'S REPLY IS DELIVERED TO ALLIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Dec. 15.—The German peace delegation this morning handed Germany's reply to the entente note to Paul Dautast, secretary of the peace conference.

The forecast given by the German press of the contents of Germany's reply to the entente note was substantially correct, according to today's Paris newspapers. Although appearing to yield to the allied demands, Germany, they declare, makes a reservation on the principal point, concerning the sinking of the Scapa Flow fleet. The forecast stated that Germany conceded the principle of separation, but requested negotiations over the method of payment, declaring Germany could not give up the tonnage asked.

The general terms of the German reply was the subject of particular consideration at the London conference last week, with the result, it is said, that it has been decided not to permit the Germans to prolong the negotiations, even orally. A definite answer, it is declared, is likely to be formulated within a brief period, noting the character of an ultimatum and fixing a definite time for the signing of the protocol and the exchange of ratifications putting the peace treaty into effect.

Make every idle penny count—the old rags for wiping purposes, white or colored, will bring cash at the Gazette office.

THE ONLY GAIN: EXPERIENCE.
With the coal strike adjusted on a moderate and reasonable basis, many are asking the inevitable question: Why couldn't as much have been accomplished weeks ago, when President Wilson first offered his help to secure a settlement? The miners have lost six weeks' pay, business has incurred losses running into millions, and many have suffered from cold and inconvenience. Without a strike, the miners certainly could have gained as much. The same could be said of many other industrial struggles that harm countless numbers, and seem to help no one.
Humanity's inability to compose differences quickly and sensibly, without prolonged fighting, was explained in a most illuminating manner recently by Dr. Frank Crane. "We talk about the mine wage problem and the Irish home rule problem," said Dr. Crane, "just as though they could be quickly disposed of by determining upon solutions. Instead, they are situations, which cannot be settled off-hand, but which must be endured and lived through until the principals are ready to come to workable arrangements. Such situations are the outgrowth of long chains of events, and men must grow in experience and toleration before they will agree to the inevitable wise adjustments. Russia is terribly in need of sensible organization, and everybody knows it. But we all know, too, that this happy solution cannot come except through evolution in common sense."

The coal strike could never have occurred. The men have gained nothing that the president could not have obtained for them in October. The conservative men in the union know this, but the radicals were so vocal and so insistent that others had to give way before them, and let them learn by experience.

That the miners had grievances worthy of attention, and that they actually needed higher wages, no one will deny. Had they submitted their case to mediation two months ago, instead of striking for a program of extreme demands, they would undoubtedly have received full justice, as they will receive now and as the result of the early investigation promised by President Wilson.

Humanity loses incalculably because of its insistent habit of living through intolerable situations, instead of finding ways to speedy adjustment. We had to live through a terrible war, that might have been averted had Wilhelm II been a man of sense instead of a trouble-seeking militarist. The world is suffering because stubborn men tell us to endure delays when peace might be promptly arranged. The miners have lost millions in wages and gained only experience.

GIVING CONGRESS A CHANCE
Introduction in the house by Congressman Kendall of a bill directing the secretary of war to make arrangements for the transfer of American dead of the war from France to the United States, makes the matter more than a sentimental movement of friends of dead soldiers, sailors and marines. Plans have already been prepared by Secretary Baker, through the chief of staff of the army, for the removal of the American dead outside the zone of the armies, but the Kendall bill directs that these officials make arrangements for the disinterment and delivery to parents or nearest relatives bodies within the zone of the armies as well.

Now that the ice has been broken and the agitation for the homecoming of the heroic dead taken from private hands, results should be reasonably prompt, since the Kendall bill calls for the appropriation of $3,000,000 for carrying out the provisions of the bill. The only serious obstacle to the immediate disinterment of the American dead in the zone of the armies is the objection of the French government, which has assumed the grounds that since French dead cannot be returned to their former homes, America's heroes must await official convenience at Paris.

"This opposition may be broken down by determined action of congress, speaking for the nation, and supporting the proper claims of parents and friends of our military dead. Americans are willing to cooperate with the wishes of European governments, but have failed to be convinced of the legitimacy of the position taken by the French officials in this instance. Perhaps when France is confronted by congressional action another conclusion may be reached than that which has already obstructed American wishes expressed with consideration for French sentiment."

HOW WAR STIMULATED OUR TRADE.
The commercial greatness of the United States, developed so remarkably during the course of the war, is shown as in a strong light by the annual report of the secretary of commerce at Washington.

Our trade balance for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, was $3,978,134,047, a figure never approached in the commerce of any nation in the history of the world.

During that year our exports amounted to $7,074,011,529, and our imports to $3,095,876,582.

In spite of submarine activities during the war, the world's total ship tonnage is now greater than in 1914, having increased from 49,659,000 to 50,919,000 tons. In this country, the net gain in steam tonnage amounts to 7,600,000. Our shipyards now have a greater output than the combined total of all the yards in the world before 1914. Think of this stupendous advance in a nation whose future in ocean trade was despaired of only a few years ago!

Surely the war did wonders in stimulating our efforts in world trade activity, and we cannot be other

JUST FOLKS

THE SMUGGLER.
There's a thrill of high excitement I imagine that is mine When the skipper of a vessel tries to run a blockade line, And it must be scary business when an outlaw tries to get His stock of crooked plunder through the traps the law has set— But for genuine excitement and for thrills of real surprise, Just try smuggling Christmas bundles, past a flock of little eyes!

Oh, I've often sat and marveled at the tricks of Captain Kidd And I've thought about his shrewdness as I've read of things he did. But that grim old heartless sailor with the terrifying clank Of that swishing, slashing cutlass would have quickly walked the plank If he'd ever faced a blockade such as now is nightly mine And had tried to get his plunder past that sharp and youthful line.

I have tried my best to fool 'em and I've plotted and I've planned To escape their ceaseless vigil with my Christmas contraband. I've approached my humble dwelling like a thief who comes at night And have peeked through many a window to be sure the time was right And I've left with friendly bushes magic marvels made of tin.

Until all the watchers slumbered and 'twas safe to get them in. I'm a smuggler, I confess it. I'm a blockade runner, too. In the attic now is plundered that I'm keeping out of view. I've gone by with sleds and footballs and with dolls and picture books, But to do it I've been humbled to the devious ways of crooks.

But I'm proud of all my scheming and the shameful things I've done. For I hold that Christmas smuggling is the finest sort of fun. —Copyright 1919 by Edgar A. Guest.

than proud of the result. If we wish to keep up to the mark, though, we must do many things. We must help restore peace to the world, so that industry in other lands may flourish, and living conditions elsewhere may be made endurable. We cannot continue to thrive selfishly while other peoples suffer.

Admiral Koltchak's failure to capture Petrograd will probably cost him that $50,000,000 loan the allies and America were getting ready to slip into his Christmas stocking.

Possibly Baron von Lerner has only become affected by the war craze that is epidemic throughout Balkanized Europe, that he flouts the supreme council.

The American delegates, after figuratively sending for their "George Washington," have decided to remain a little longer in Paris. What happened this time?

When a statesman admits that a situation "is very grave," he means he is afraid the thing may not happen which he has worked so hard to make happen.

May we not doubt the accusations against a popular pastime when Paris dance halls are ordered closed for lack of heat?

"Irrationality" is the newest in homicide defenses. This ought to take in anything and let anybody out.

COAL AND CHAOS
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Whom you choose to blame for the fact that you have just been threatened with all the horrors of coal famine is largely a matter of politics and point-of-view. But one conclusion you cannot avoid if you look fairly at the facts. Our failure to get an adequate and continuous supply of coal is due largely to the fact that our great industrial system, of which we boast so much, is poorly and even stupidly organized. And for this we are all to blame.

Until the last few years the ultimate consumer has been chiefly interested in the price of coal. He has been able to get local coal at a price he had been led to believe that this price represents an undue profit for somebody. Mr. McAdoo says the operators have been getting it, and the operators retort, "Search us!"

But recently the all-important question of what price we pay for coal was eclipsed by the still more important question of whether we were going to get any coal at all. We have 46 percent of all the coal in the world—enough of it to last for several centuries. There are enough men in the country to dig it. And yet we have been threatened with freezing both this winter and last.

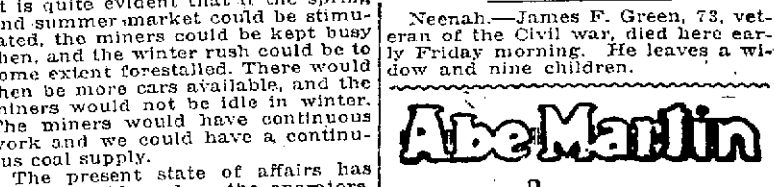

Something Is Wrong
This state of affairs suggests that something is wrong with the way we go about digging and distributing our coal. Investigations which have been made recently by government experts strongly support this suggestion. They are right. There is something wrong with our coal-production system. And the settlement of the strike will not by any means remedy that trouble. The lack of industrial cooperation between the operators, the miners, the railroads, and the consumer is at the bottom of the problem, according to the best expert evidence available.

We are not exporting nearly as much coal as we could export. Here again, organized intelligent effort is all that is lacking. Mr. Manning suggests that the coal operators should form the same association under the Webb-Fomereaux law. They could easily find an export market which would keep mines and miners busy during the winter season, when the domestic market will not take up the product.

Investigation shows that we have really only made a clumsy beginning in the production of power and the use of our fuel resources. Water power can and will take the place of much coal. Direct conversion of our heat into energy could take the place of the rest. Coal would then be used chiefly for its chemical content, and this would be highly manufactured in this country and sold in foreign markets. Industry, in this as in almost all other respects, lags shamefully behind science. Industry is like a clumsy and ignorant child playing with the wonderful toys that science has put in his hands.

Neenah.—James F. Green, 73, veteran of the Civil war, died here early Friday morning. He leaves a widow and nine children.

Abe Martin

The present state of affairs has often been blamed on the operators. It has been stated that they should provide storage facilities for coal at the mines. Then coal could be stored until winter weather comes and the demand for it is at its peak. But the technical investigations made by the bureau of mines do not bear out this theory. They show operators are to blame. They show that the storage of coal at the mines is attended with serious difficulties. Soft coal stored in large quantities—many thousands of tons—is in danger from spontaneous combustion.

That is, it may take fire from the heat which is generated by oxidation. And again, storing coal in this manner means handling it twice instead of once, as is done if the coal is put directly into the cars. This means an extra cost to be borne by the consumer. And the work involved in handling the coal is bearing enough extra costs now!

It also means that the coal will be broken up, and will thus decrease in value. Coal losses value from this cause every time it is handled. The logical place to store the coal, therefore, is in the bin of the consumer, and not at the mine. The small supply used by the domestic consumer is in no danger from spontaneous combustion and the amounts needed by the average factory are not in such danger either if properly stored. Therefore, the consumer should buy his coal in the spring and summer as much as possible, and store it.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT
ROY K. MOULTON

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE
The other day we saw a man in a suit and tie, a gentleman cut given us by our washday, the cat being named Mr. Salteena. In honor of Daisy Ashford's immortal hero.

Well, this morning we went and opened the cellar door. To find Mr. Salteena come upstairs. And we heard some little squeaks. Very peculiar—little sounds. And when we went to investigate we found Mr. Salteena purring contentedly over a basketful of young Salteenas and nothing there just as though he knew all about it.

You see, we didn't pay much attention to Mr. Salteena. In the first place, only falling over him once or twice. It seems now that the children took the washday's word and made a slight mistake in naming the pleasant feline. The name has been changed. Mr. Salteena is now The Duchess of Duckworth.

A LYRIC TO OUR SERVICE.
Now Mrs. Willis had some servant girls. When she left for near a month: "How did she do it?" the people all cried— Then to a committee she thusly re- "If you are going to hire some servants You've got to treat 'em right; Buy 'em an auto—be humble and You never can tell—they may stay for a week. So pat 'em, and love 'em—kiss 'em and hug 'em. Promise 'em the States, and the Heavens above 'em." —Mark Hellinger.

SO HAWAII IS COPYING US, TOO.
(From the Hopkins, Mo., Journal.) If the average newspaper is paying up treasures, the people in Hawaii, for here, with the prices of print paper going like the skirts in Hawaii, higher, higher every day.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information, may write the letter to the Information Bureau, Washington D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Is Dr. Harry Garfield, the government fuel administrator, related to the former president, and what business has he entered the government service? W. R.

A. Dr. Garfield is the eldest son of the former Republican president, Francis A. Garfield. At the time of his appointment as fuel administrator he was president of Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., which position he still holds. He has been head of the college since 1908.

Q. Have marine shipyard strikes proved costly to the United States shipping boats? U.

A. Since the first of January, it is estimated that strikes have cost the shipping board a total of $37,000,000. This includes marine and harbor strikes, longshoremen strikes, and shipyard strikes.

Q. Is there a war tax on Christmas parcel post packages? J. J.

A. A war tax of one cent will be charged for each Christmas parcel post package on which the postage amounts to 25 cents and another cent for each additional 25 cents. The post office department recommends that in sending a number of parcels to one place, they be packed under one cover and sent to one person for distribution. The department also says that it is permissible to enclose a card in a package with inscriptions such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," or words of similar import.

Q. How much did the World war cost France? U.

A. It is estimated that the total financial damage suffered by France during the five years of war was nearly seven billion dollars, of which more than forty billion was material damage to property. Twenty-six billion was actual cost of war compared with a cost of twenty-two billion to the United States.

Q. Is the salary of the lord lieutenant of Ireland greater than that of the president of the United States? J. O.

the Civil war? E. H.
A. The treasury department says that the highest point the Civil war debt ever reached was $2,844,000,000 on August 31, 1865.

Q. What is the Rosetta Stone? J. H. G.

A. It is a slab of black asphalt bearing an inscription which was the key to the interpretation of Egyptian hieroglyphics. It was found in 1799 by a French officer of engineers near Rosetta, Egypt, and is now in the British museum in London.

Q. Tell me something about the Fairy Crosses which are dug up in Virginia. M. C.

A. There are several legends connected with the origin of these fairy stones, which are in the shape of crosses. The one generally accepted is that when Christ was crucified on Calvary, courier fairies and brownies from that part of the world carried the message to this continent, and at once began making these crosses as mementos of the event.

RAIL OFFICIALS GIVE OUT NO STATEMENT ON CAR ACCIDENT

he said. "Of course I saw it coming, but the motorman made as if to stop, and so I continued. Then all at a sudden the trolley tried to cross in front of me. I put on my brakes and stopped within engine length after we struck her. I was going only five miles an hour at the time."

Another man who did not see the train coming was George Burnett, the trolley company's watchman whose duty it is to guide trolleys over the railroad tracks to safety.

"I never saw her coming at all," he told a reporter. "The gates were up and I signalled the motorman with my lantern to come on. The first I knew the train was on top of the trolley going slow."

Auto Was Under Gates.

Clarence Preston, high school man, who opens and lowers the gates, insists that the gates were up because an automobile was under one of them and made it impossible to lower them. Asked why he didn't put them down, anyway, after the auto had passed through, he said that he was too confused in the excitement of the crash, he feared to lower them after the trolley was crossing because the motorman might become confused and start the car. Therefore, he thought it best to trust to luck.

Word of the accident was first conveyed to the police when a alarm was sounded by some excited person. The department rushed to the scene, only to find an ambulance and physicians waiting for the injured. While waiting for these, people in the crowd which gathered at the noise of the smash-up picked up the injured and carried them into the railroad station where they administered first aid. Doctors rushed to the scene. Many of the injured were taken to their homes in taxis and other vehicles and there given treatment by family physicians.

Homes in the first ward Saturday night looked like first aid stations. A reporter visited many of them and heard various and conflicting stories. In many instances, the passengers had no warning of the impending disaster until the car was thrown from the tracks.

Thrown Out of Car.

Frank Grove, 621 North Pearl street, who was cut about the head and arms, stated that he was thrown out of the trolley, landing upon the pilot of the locomotive. He did not see the train coming.

Arthur O'Donnell, an employee of the Gazette, says that he was hurled through the air out of a window and when he picked himself up he was dazed and did not know where he was. Early reports stated that he had been thrown under the fire but the doctor who treated him says that although he cannot account for painful burns upon his chest caused by red hot coals. His back was sprained from landing on the ground and he suffered many cuts from flying glass.

Receiving many scalp wounds and an injury to her left shoulder, Marion Badger, daughter of Alderman Edwin L. Badger, stated that much confusion, excitement and yelling prevailed among the passengers when the impact came. Most of them were thrown to the floor of the car, she believed. Her statements were corroborated by Edna St. John, whose left arm was sprained and who suffered many bruises.

Saw No One Lose His Head.

Ernest Edwards, 132 E. Alford avenue, was standing on the back platform of the trolley when the smash-up happened. He reports that no one in the car realized what was going to happen until the big engine, of the 1500 class, was almost on top of them. While he says that confusion reigned in the car, he did not see anyone who lost his head. He complained of severe pains and walked to a physician for medical attention.

First news of the accident to reach the hospital was when Catherine Youngblood, a nurse there, rushed in with blood streaming from cuts on her face and excitedly told what had happened. She also suffered shock.

Andrew L. Bysted was the calmest of those interviewed. Nursing a swollen head and bruises he said that no one received any warning. He was accompanied by his wife and 9-year old son, and with them kept his seat. He says that he noticed many others in the car did the same thing, while some were thrown around and others shot through the windows.

Phelps Gives First Aid.

O. A. Phelps, 114 Corn Exchange street, formerly a motorman for the trolley company, was among those who gave first aid to the wounded. He said that when he reached the scene groaning persons were scattered amid glass and wood in every direction around the wrecked car. He saw one man upon the pilot of the engine and another lying prostrate near the drive wheels. Some of the women and children were practically no damage was done to the locomotive, except for a smashed headlight and broken coupler. However, the engine was not permitted by the railroad officials to proceed. Another engine took the train to Madison.

Trolley and railroad traffic was blocked for several hours while the demolished car could be pulled from the tracks by the aid of a fire truck.

CITY TAX RATE IS $21.60 OR 25 PCT. ABOVE LAST YEAR

The 1920 tax rate in Janesville including all city, county, and state levies, will be $21.60 per $1,000 assessed valuation, according to complete and final figures given out today by City Clerk J. F. McCue. This is an increase of $4.35 over the rate last year, or a 25 percent boost. The rate last year was $17.25.

The new rate is less than the amount which it was predicted it would be by many tax-payers and is held to be nothing unusual when it is considered the changes that have taken place in the city during the past year. Funds for the purchase of the new $11,600 fire truck, the installation of a police signal system and the purchase of a police motorcycle, together with $23,000 for public school maintenance, are included in the levy.

The total amount to be raised is $41,160.00 of which the city will receive nearly 90 percent, the state and county getting the balance. A

Condition of Armenians Is Said to Be Gravest Ever

the condition of the Armenians been so grave and the need for external aid so great as at present, Miran Sevasi, representative of the Armenian National delegation in Washington, said today in discussing latest reports from Armenia.

Madison.—Answers to the question, "Is a college woman the kind of a woman the college man wants for his wife" by men students of the University through the Daily Cardinal has called forth protests from the co-eds, who say the severe criticism of the men is unjust and uncalled for. A college woman is just what a college man should have for a wife, they declare.

Madison.—Wisconsin has five ex-governors living of whom W. H. Upham, Marshfield, is the oldest. The other four are: Edward Scofield, Oconto; Robert M. La Follette, U. S. Senator; James O. Davidson, Madison; and Francis B. McGovern, Milwaukee. Mr. Davidson has just gone to Florida to spend the winter in retirement.

ROCKFORD LOSES TO CARDINALS, 41-12, IN GAME AT ARMORY

(By Frank Sinclair.)
Rockford Athletic club sent a basketball team to Janesville Saturday night, to take back a disheartened bunch of men who admitted they had met their Waterloo earlier in the season of 1919-20 than they had expected.

Janesville won 41 to 12. Yet, though the score was so one-sided, the game was hard fought, every step of the way the Rockford players endeavored to put opposition in the way of the Lakotas, but they were so outclassed that they were bewildered. Real playing was shown by both sides, the visitors running everything known on the court to catch up and at least tie the score.

Even the presence of a major league baseball star from the door league failed to make an impression upon the Cards. That ball player was Harold Carlson, pitcher for the Pittsburgh Nationals. He was sent from being a Pirate Saturday night, however, for he made only one basket. He played right forward.

Lewis was absent from the Cardinal lineup Saturday night, but his place was taken by Field. The Cards didn't need their star shooter, anyway, for Braun, who came forward, scored goal after goal. The big center shot seven field baskets, while Derrin made five and three free throws. The Lakota scoring was done by Williams, with three; Casserly, with two, and Dalton and Field, with one each.

The scoring for the Rockford team was done by the guards, very peculiarly. Perhaps that accounts for the Cardinals piling up such a large score, for the visiting team had their two foul guards, Danielson and Derrin, who were the best of the Rockford team, other than Carlson, couldn't find the basket.

Next Wednesday night the Cardinals will play their first mid-week game of the year on the armory court here, when they meet the five from Belvidere. This game is expected to be the hardest for the locals so far. On Saturday night Waukegan will be seen here.

Lineup: Rockford (12) — Carlson, Field, Derrin, Danielson, Braun, Dalton, Casserly, Williams, Derrin, Field, Williams, 1; Anderson, 2; Dalton, 3; Field, 4; Anderson, 5; Danielson, 6; H. Carlson, 7; Derrin, 8; Danielson, 9; Field, 10; Derrin, 11; Danielson, 12. Referee—Sennett.

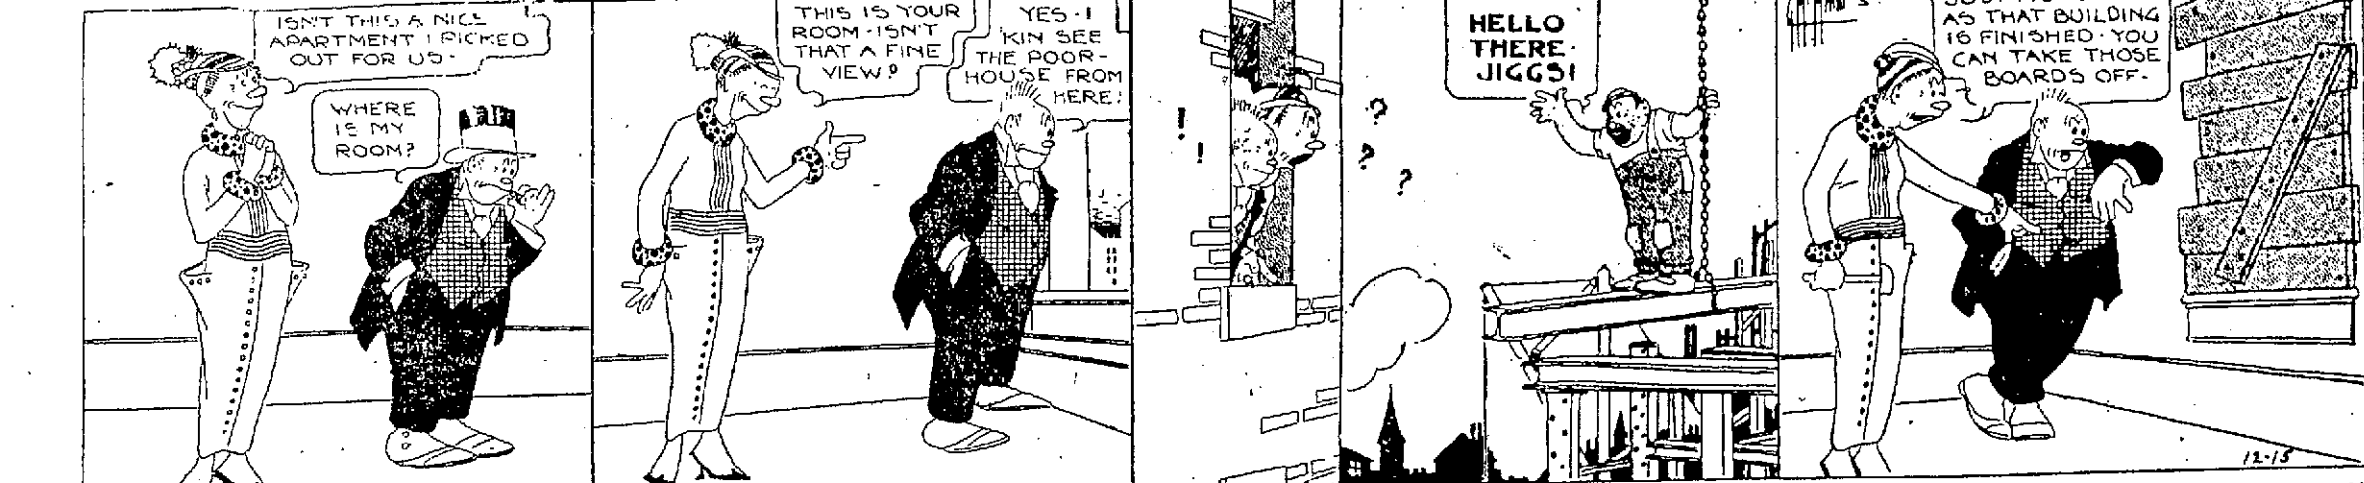

Kenosha. Copies of a bill for an appropriation of $200,000 for an addition to the federal building here have been received from Congressman Randall, who presented it in the house. The addition will consist mainly of an extended courtroom for the federal court.

PITTSBURG WELTER, FORGING TO FRONT

By N. E. BROWN.
Jack Perry, welterweight from Pittsburgh, Pa., is making the other lads in his class sit down and take notice—or go to sleep—these days. That of knocking Milburn Saylor cold in three stanzas at Youngstown, O. Saylor is a veteran and a star in the welter class and is a tough battler, as a host of ring artists will concede. That Perry outclassed Saylor is indicated by the fact that the Smokey City gent knocked Milburn flat in the first round while the referee counted eight. Four times in the second round Saylor hit the mat. Saylor had been sunk twice in the third round when the referee halted the battle. Perry isn't a newcomer in the welter ranks. He has met all the big boys, including Ted Lewis. He is angling now for a chance at Jack Britton, welter champ, and, judging from the recent work, he ought to give the champ a battle.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By N. E. BROWN.
Back in 1905 an eight-year-old youth who lived right across the road from the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburg, started to spend considerable of his time on the golf links at that club learning the game. Perhaps he had decided at that time he would win the national amateur golf title some time, but he didn't say much about it. But that chap, S. Davidson Heron, now holds that title, winning it last summer against the best field of golfers brought together since the war ended. Heron is now only 22. He is a husky bird, weighing 205 pounds. This weight helps him in getting distance in his drives, one of the outstanding features of his play. He's a college man, went to Princeton, graduated in 1918. Played golf in college, too, being a member of the college team four years. He broke into the national tournament game in 1915 when he tied Sam Saverin in the preliminary qualifying round of the title tourney at Detroit. Golf's his only real hobby. He tried football one year at Princeton, then passed it up.

VOLLEYBALL CONTEST TO BE STAGED AT "Y"

A volleyball game between teams representing the Madison Y. M. C. A. and the local organization will feature the after dinner program for the men's banquet held at the "Y" on Saturday evening. A team composed of business men of the Capital city will meet a team of Janesville's business men. As the teams are to evenly matched a hot contest is expected. Fifty men have already signified their intentions of attending the banquet. An address by Dr. J. B. Modest, general secretary of the Milwaukee "Y" and former physical director of the "Y" association, will be the feature talk of the evening. Physical Director W. P. Craig will announce members of the teams in the volleyball contests, basketball league, and all other final plans will be completed at this meeting for definite action in the coming activities of the men's department.

TWO COACHES TO AID YOST WIN IN 1920

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 15.—As a result of the disastrous football year just ended, the University of Michigan athletic board has decided to employ two additional assistant football coaches for next season. The question of a new trainer was discussed, but no decision was reached. Coach Yost's assistants, selected by the board are Prentiss Douglas, former Michigan star and line coach, and E. G. Sauerzberger of Nebraska. Michigan alumni in a number of cities urged the action upon the board.

As You Were!

—BY—
BUCK
Of the STARS AND STRIPES A. E. F.

FATIGUE
You can see 'em in the movies, With the sunlight on their guns, You can read in all the papers Of the charge that licked the Hun, You can read of "dickie heroes" And of "gleaming bayonets." But there's one thing all the writers And the artists all forget.
That's me
On K. P.
In my suit of denim blue I am thinking—not of you— But the places where I'd like the Top to be!
On the posters in the windows, In the monthly magazines, Are the boys in leather leggings Such as Pershing's never seen, Oh, they love to paint 'em pretty, All dressed up and fit to kiss; Ain't it funny there's a picture That they always seem to miss?
Bless me soul! Loading coal! In my little shimmy-shirt Eyes and mouth full up with dirt, (In the next war I'll be living at the Pole!) —From "I WAS THERE"; Were You?

Ex-Sergt. SOL says there's no wonder the country is suffering from a white paper famine, considering the amount that had to be used before he could get his discharge.

REMEMBER THAT NIGHT?
(Remembered by a Yank that signs himself "Sixth Marine.")
In the Argonne-Meuse fight when he occupied a "wedge" position in the front lines about the third day out, when we hadn't eaten since we started, and it had been raining every day for several weeks, and we had orders to report anything suspicious to the company commander. Now we vainly tried to figure out a way of getting through the interior guard, if we wanted to, without being poked in the ribs with a bayonet being shot—and how the falling rain sounded—just like a couple million Huns getting ready to make the much predicted counter attack! You figured that if they did, they would get you first, and if they didn't you would get it anyway, when both sides opened up with you in that delightful intersection known as no man's land. And what a great old feeling it was when a runner came out and told you you didn't have to stay there all night, to come on in, the outfit was going to move? Do I? Hope to tell you I do!

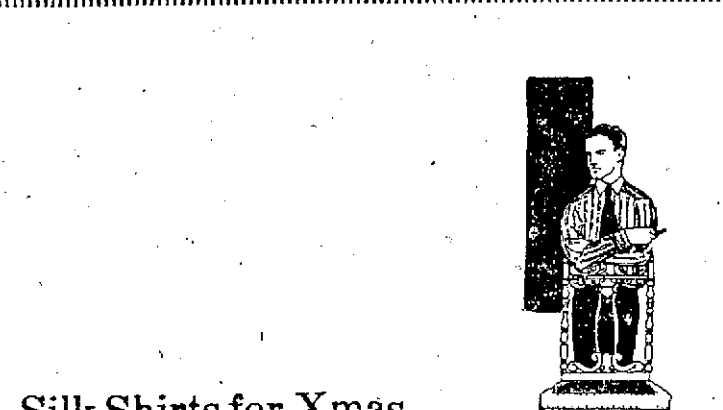

DID HE GET THAT WAY IN THE ARMY?
(From the "Come-Back" of Walter Reed Hospital.)

NEXT TIME
In years to come, if war-clouds break, And I must enlist once more, I think a blacksmith's job I'll take In the Motor Transport Corps.

After seeing some of the men who got married to escape the draft, "Beauty", the Canteen Queen, says she believes in the old adage, "wed in haste, repent at leisure." It works both ways—we've seen some of the brides, too.

"LITTLE 19" MAKES BOXING MAJOR SPORT

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 15.—A measure making boxing a major sport, with an annual tournament in connection with the track and field games, was passed on Thursday at the annual session of the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic association.
The plans call for the deciding of championships in seven classes, ranging from flyweight to heavyweight, conducted under army regulations. A committee composed of R. C. Brown of Bradley, N. G. Wann of Millikin, and E. J. Kelly of St. Viators, was named to determine if it will be possible to conduct a boxing tournament next spring at Bradley institute.
A few of the nineteen conference members have introduced boxing since the war, but this is the first attempt to conduct matches between representatives of different institutions.
A few copies of the New World Atlas can be obtained at the Gazette office at 25 cents per copy.

FILIPINO COMING TO BEAT BENNY LEONARD

Honolulu, T. H., Dec. 15.—"Kid" Dencio, a Filipino of Manila, will invade the United States bent on capturing the world's lightweight boxing championship, according to Sergt. Harry Kontor of the army quartermaster's corps, who arrived here recently.
Kontor, who has been prominent in army and civilian sport circles in Manila, said Dencio holds the oriental bantamweight, featherweight and lightweight championships. The only man who has beaten Dencio, said Kontor, is Lew Edwards, lightweight champion of Australia.

EXTRA PERIOD FOR BADGER-RIPON GAME

Madison, Dec. 15.—Wisconsin defeated Ripon college in an overtime basketball game Saturday, 19 to 16. The Badgers led at the end of the first half, but Ripon gained a two point lead, which was tied in the last minute of play. Two field goals in the extra period won for the Badgers.

Charge Jesse Willard With Profiteering

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 15.—A federal warrant charging profiteering in the sale of cordwood, a violation of the Lever act, was issued on Friday for Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion. Willard was due to appear before U. S. Clavin, Jr., United States commissioner in Kansas City, Kas., at 10 a. m. on Saturday. It is alleged Willard asked and received $3.50 a cord for wood on the stump from his farm near Topeka. That amount, the district attorney asserts, is double what it should have been.

CAMP'S CHOICE OF AN ALL-AMERICAN "POWERFUL" ELEVEN

New York, Dec. 15.—Walter Camp's selection for 1919, he says is the most powerful and versatile in years. They are all veterans, well versed in the modern game. Every man is an expert in his position. The team combines strong, hard hitting, powerful and players with a line of exceptional physique to lift and open holes, light on the defense. The backfield combines speed and power in Dunning, and has strong interference. It has men good at making and receiving forward passes. It has good long range punters and accurate kickers from the field and from placement. Camp refers to Higgins and Miller as being impossible to get around. West and Henry have classed the tackles for years. Youngstrom and Alexander he classes the greatest of all defensive guards. Weaver's kicking, his strong defensive and his ability on the defense won for him the place at center.
McMillan is rated as a quarterback of speed and hard hitting aggressiveness combined with brains. Casoy was selected, Camp says, for his work in the Princeton and Yale games. He is declared a good forward passer, a very fast man with the ball and particularly elusive in his turning and twisting.
Harley is classed as a fitting running mate and a star drop kicker and one of the hardest men in the country to stop, when once started. Rogers was given the call for fullback on account of ability to throw the ball, his clever kicking and his ability to stop, when once started. He and McMillan were selected to run the team and call the signals alternately.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—Charles A. Cominsky, owner of the Chicago Americans, is laying plans to build up a strong pitching staff with young material for the 1920 season. He has taken his first step in this direction by signing Milton Steemgrate, a semi pro of Oakland, Cal. He is a young right hander, weighs 170 pounds and has been so successful that players and scouts strongly urged Cominsky to get him.

Fashionable Resorters to Travel by Air in S. America

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Buenos Aires, (By Mail).—A new aviation company has just been formed in Argentina to inaugurate aerial passenger service between Buenos Aires and Montevideo and between Buenos Aires and the Argentine summer resort of Mar del Plata. The trip by steamer across the mouth of the River Plate to Montevideo now consumes about 11 hours. The trip by plane is a night's journey by rail. There is great interest in aviation in Argentina which has been accentuated recently by the visits of French,
British and Italian aviation missions, several North American aviators and the flights across the Andes of the Italian aviator Locatelli.

Mexican Military Commander

Named Head of Sonora Forces

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Mexico City, Dec. 14.—General
Francisco Murguía, for some time commander of military forces in the northern part of the republic, has recently been named by the forces in the state of Sonora.

Moleskins in Great Demand

For Coats, Prices go up

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, (By Mail).—Moleskins are in such demand for coats and fur-suits that mole-trappers are already compiling contracts to deliver 150 per hundred against a pre-war price of 25 shillings per hundred.
